PREPOSTEROUS CLAIMS.

Wilcox in his speeches on this Island is making great claims for his prowess as a legislator and especially as a plum puller for his Hawaiian friends of the Home Rule party. He claims to have secured appointments at West Point and at Annapolis for Hawaiian boys. The facts are that these places are not accorded to any congressional district or Territory because of the clever work of a representative. They are places which belong to this Territory under the law prescribing rules for admission to the Military and Naval academies. Wilcox had nothing to do with the passage of this law, for he was probably flirting in Italy at the time it was passed.

Furthermore the boys appointed were not Home Rulers and if Wilcox had anything to do with the matter, he threw down his own crowd. Clarence Lyman, a good Republican boy was sent to West Point, and a son of Major Pond, a haole, was sent to Annapolis.

Brother Wilcox also claims to have obtained the franchise for Hawaiians. This claim has been exploded so often that it is only the monumental brass of the Delegate that leads him to mention it again. When Delegate Flynn of Oklahoma was in Hilo he said that Wilcox had nothing whatever to do with the matter of the enfranchisement of Hawaiians. This right was obtained by Judge Little who is a haole and a good Republican, and therefore a supporter of Prince Cupid. These franchises are due to Kuhio—a man who will do good in congress for the people of Hawaii, if they but vote right.

STREET REPAIRS.

Front street chuck holes were repaired with alacrity last week, when it was seen by the road board that the job would be done by private parties, if neglected any longer. A member of the Road board by way of explanation of the neglect said that in view of the intentions of the department to make a fine macadamized boulevard of Front street, it had been felt that any repairs now made would be only a waste of money. It was admitted, however, that the date for the improvement of Front street had not been set, and that the confusion in the Department of Public works makes this improvement problematical.

It is of course not good policy to spend much money on roads which in the near future are to be given an entire overhauling. Money spent in such a place is virtually thrown away, unless the condition of the road demands instant attention as Front street did.

On the other hand, people have grown tired of jolting over rough roads, for which the old excuse is constantly brought forward. The old excuse is that the government has plans for the immediate macadamizing of the road, hence temporary repairs would be an extravagance. The fact is that the necessary repairs in a road are never an extravagance.

HAWAII has one thing for which to be grateful. All the coal strikes in christendom would not oppress her poor, and California oil will soon render all her industries immune from the coal trust.

PUEO STREETS.

The streets in the Pueo addition have never been taken over by the government, consequently, no matter how dilapidated they become, road officials have no authority to make repairs. All the details necessary for the transfer of title in these streets to the Territory have been made. They were completed long ago. The Territory has not taken action in the matter, evidently because it would at once become responsible for the wellbeing of the highways. This shirking of responsibility on the official side is not calculated to put citizens in a better humor to make concessions to the government, where new streets are wanted by it.

BANQUO AGAIN.

There are some supposedly intelligent white people in Hilo who labor under the impression that if the Republican party is defeated in November, President Roosevelt will remove Governor Dole. Such a thought might find refuge in the brain of an imbecile, but it should never be harbored in the brain cells of men who know just how many beans it takes to make five.—Herald

This is vitriolic, but it perhaps would evaporate like ether, should the President remove Governor Dole regardless of Republican defeat or victory—a probability of the first magnitude.

THE HERALD, would not be caught in the open for the price of a kingdom. At least it would not risk being right on a disputed question for much less than that price. A few weeks ago that paper was urging James H. Boyd to be the Republican candidate for Delegate and was dilating on the fact that it was the first to mention Boyd's name in that connection. Now the wish in the Herald's heart is father to the thought appearing in its editorial columns. It insinuates that Boyd was connected with recent defalcations occurring in his bureau, and says this exposes the reason why he would not run. The Herald will doubtless be disappointed if Boyd returns and proves himself blameless. It will certainly be a disappointment to Mr. Boyd to find out that the paper claiming to have discovered him has sought to besmirch his name without a hearing and in his absence from the Territory.

LESLIE M. SHAW, Secretary of the United States Treasury, has justified the panegyrics that were pronounced by the press when he accepted the appointment by the President. He averted a threatened financial panic in Wall street the latter part of September by methods which a predecessor, Mr. Fairchild characterized as "a radical departure from precedent." Secretary Shaw was known to have a profound knowledge and insight in all question of business and finance. On top of this he has displayed a courage that proves that he knows he knows what he is about.

THE news that Admiral Beckley has come out uncompromisingly for the Republican ticket adds lustre to his name. His hitherto equivocal attitude has been sized upon by his enemies as evidence that he is opposed to good government. The Admiral is a good divider of public sentiment and he has entered the lists just at the right moment to add impetus to the tidal wave which is to carry Prince Cupid to victory.

ASSISTANT Superintendent of Public Works Marston Campbell, has authorized the Hilo Road Board to expend sufficient money to make Front street respectable. It should not be overlooked by the local authorities that the street needs cleaning as well as fixing. It is perhaps impossible to eradicate the oriental aroma of the thoroughfare, still it can be vastly improved with a little effort.

THE Wilcox gathering at the Japanese theater Monday night was less interesting than the prize fight and attracted about the same number of spectators.

THE FRIENDS of L. M. Whitehouse will be glad to learn that he is renewing his youth on the gridiron at Palo Alto.

A SON of the great French Author, Daudet, says novel reading is a low form of intoxication and should be suppressed by law. He would prohibit the sale of novels to women and children. It is to be presumed that the character of the French novel is responsible for young Daudet's views.

THE registration of votes in the first district on this island shows a gain over two years ago of 220. There is little doubt but that most of these new voters will support the Republican ticket. The registration figures augur well for Prince Cupid.

THE Maui News complains that Honolulu is suffering from a cam-of "envious belittling" by Hilo newspapers. With such a champion as the Maui News, Honolulu will probably pull through alright.

THE discovery of a 30 pound chunk of lead in the Hilo water mains, proves that the work of contractors on Public works cannot be too carefully inspected.

S. L. DESHA, just back from a campaigning tour on Kauai, says that Island will return a good easy majority for Prince Cupid.
